

DISASTER THREATENS WHOLE GERMAN ARMY ON PICARDY FRONT COMPANY C MACHINE GUNNERS ARE VICTIM OF AN AMERICAN SHELL

SERGEANT HERBERT HOCHARD AND PRIVATE CLAWSON ARE KILLED BY OWN ARTILLERY

Story Told by Rev. F. A. LaViolette at Meeting at Somerset Last Evening Attended by Fully Three Thousand Persons

MORE OF COMMAND FOUND TO BE PRISONERS

That Sergeant Herbert Hochard of Somerset, and Private Clawson of Latrobe, who manned a machine gun in the battle of the Marne on July 16, were killed by an American shell was the story Rev. F. A. LaViolette, Y. M. C. A. field secretary with the 110th Infantry, told to 3,000 persons assembled in and about the Christian church at Somerset last night in relating the exploits of Company C and the 110th as a whole in the battle. At Mount Pleasant last Sunday Rev. LaViolette had told of the deaths of these two men but did not say how. They were buried in the shell crater where they fell, he told the people of Somerset. He helped to bury them.

Rev. LaViolette gave a vivid description of the battle of which he was a witness and unstintingly praised the valor of the boys of Company C and the whole command. He expressed the belief that many of the Somerset county soldiers are prisoners of the Germans.

Twelve hundred persons were packed into the church, it was stated today. More than that number were outside.

THREE SOMERSET BOYS

ARE AT DARMSTADT.
A cablegram received at Somerset this morning said that "Crouse, Elcher and Kemp," members of Company C, are prisoners at Darmstadt, a German camp. Whether "Crouse" is Lieutenant Samuel S. Crouse or his son, Corporal Edward L. Crouse, is not known. "Elcher" is David Elcher of Somerset, and "Kemp" is Robert Kemp of the same place.

SERGEANT ROBERT KEMP IS GERMAN PRISONER

Word was received in Uniontown by Mrs. J. T. Smith of Braddock avenue, from her son, Sergeant Robert Kemp, Company C, 110th Regiment Infantry, stating he was "safe and well" in a German prison camp. Sergeant Kemp sent the cablegram to his mother himself.

He had been officially reported missing in action and many times it was rumored that he was dead. The cablegram received this morning, however, was the first word received by his mother telling her he was in a prison camp.

That the 318th Infantry has been in a recent engagement is indicated by cablegrams received during the past few days from Fayette county boys, members of Company K. A cablegram from Private Rufus Barkley to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barkley of Uniontown, states that he is well. Other cablegrams made similar statement.

SERGEANT WALTER RICHY

THINKS WAR WILL END SOON.
Now that the 28th Division, composed of Pennsylvania Guardsmen, have struck the trail of the Hun, the members of this magnificent organization of fighters, see an early finish to the war. That is the opinion of Sergeant Walter C. Richy, Headquarters Company, 11th Infantry, who, writing to his mother, Mrs. C. A. Richy, West Side, under date of July 31, says: "I am still getting along fine and am in the best of health. I have been up as close to the front as we are al-

ENGLAND'S MEN ARE ALL AT WAR SAYS DR. DOUGLAS

If we here at home really know what men who have gone from here to and through England have seen and learned, we would forever hang our heads in shame for any reflection we may have made on the part England has taken in the war.

"His men are all at war," writes Lieutenant E. W. Douglas, of the Medical Corps, 103rd Supply Train, American Expeditionary Forces, in a letter to Mr. and Mrs. James Edenbo, South Connellsville. "The cars, mills, factories and even engines are operated by women. It is pitiable, indeed. When you hear anyone running down England put them down as either pro-German sympathizers or very ignorant people who let some one else do their thinking. England has suffered next to Belgium and far more than France."

The letter of Lieutenant Douglas, dated July 25, was written in France. "We are fighting and have had the Hun on the steady run for nearly two weeks," he says. "The Hun has lost miles and miles of hard won territory never to regain it because we keep what we take. A very low trick he has tried often, but more so lately, is to protect a house or church full of machine guns by raising the Red Cross flag above it. He did this yesterday while we were charging a town, killing a goodly number of us before we discovered the mean trick. At first our boys would not shoot at the building, thinking it a hospital, but when they discovered the use being made of it, they made a short story."

"Today I saw the finish of a boche airman, when he went over our woods brushing the tops of the trees, pursued by two Allied planes. They got him, treated him to a little lead or copper and took over his machine unharmed. I would love to get an airplane whose motor would compel him to land. I would bring his scalp to America."

"Saw several Connellsville boys in good spirits in a town whose chateau has been made famous in this war. A most beautiful city terribly battered by artillery. Only one who has seen the horror can get a clear idea of what war is. See thousands of prisoners of the Hun Infantry. Unless every other man has a machine gun they will not stand up to ours."

"Daily squadrons of airplanes, as high as 200 at one time, go over my head. They make my nerves tingly going overhead so close all day and night, but what scares everyone is sight of an enemy bomber."

"EXALTED CAUSE" IN GREAT DANGER, HUN PRESS IS TOLD

By Associated Press.
AMSTERDAM, Aug. 23.—"Our cause is an exalted one, but it is in great danger," Admiral von Hintze, the German foreign secretary, told a conference of German journalists in Berlin, according to the Cologne Volks-Zeitung.

"In these times the government, the press, and the nation must hold together with one aim—to win the war. If these factors do not hold together, we shall be beaten."

"I shall always show the greatest consideration to the gentlemen of the press. You will hear nothing but facts from me, but I cannot always give all the facts. The entire truth at special times does not serve but harms the public interests."

"I am not at all concerned regarding attacks either on my person or against the imperial policy. I am merely concerned with our cause. Our cause is an exalted one but it is in great danger. I therefore call on you to cooperate."

PLAN TO INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK OF WEST PENN POWER

Is Under Consideration By a Group of Pittsburg Financiers Today.

ENLARGEMENT OF PLANTS

To Better Meet the Enormous Demands for Power in the Pittsburg District Is the Object; Government May Lend Substantial Assistance to Project.

At a luncheon to be held in Pittsburg today, which will be attended by about 100 local bankers and other financiers, the matter of increasing the capital stock of the West Penn Power company $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 will be considered, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. The tremendous need of electric power to meet the essential industrial requirements of this district, superinduced by the reconcentration of the War Industries Board that the government supply $200,000,000 to help expand the electrical power of the country in order to meet war exigencies, is responsible for the movement to increase enormously the electrical output of the West Penn Power company.

Officers of the company refused last night to discuss the matter further than to admit that a number of bankers and other financiers of this section will meet to consider the proposition. They declared, however, that the meeting will be but a preliminary step in the action of adding materially to the equipment of the plants already owned and operated by the company.

J. B. Finley, a prominent member of the power company, said it has but one large plant in operation now, that at Connellsville, but it has several smaller plants at Freeport and other sections of the Greater Pittsburg district.

"The meeting," Mr. Finley said, "will be simply for the purpose of going over the properties of the company and deciding whether or not it would be a feasible proposition to increase the equipment and the building capacities of the plants owned by the company and to equip, enlarge and otherwise improve the few plants owned by the company but which are not now being operated. The meeting will be for the purpose of getting ready to enlarge the output of the West Penn Power company in the event the government decides to help finance such propositions. What will be done at the meeting further than that I cannot say."

The Dispatch representatives learned last night from reliable authority, however, that there is no doubt that today's meeting will be one of the most important financial gatherings that have been held in this section for years. His informant said that hundreds of millions of dollars will be represented, and that there is no doubt that the object is to raise from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 at once to finance the extension of the plants of the West Penn Power company on a gigantic scale.

Mr. Finley admitted that the proposition would be very large if it went through; but said it would not be in any way a water-power activity, bituminous coal alone being the fuel to be used in generating the power. Asked if it was not possible that the Cheat river power plant proposition, partly completed by the Kuhns some years ago, would be considered, Mr. Finley said that he thought that plan would not enter into the present proposition.

WANT TO BUY HOME

Present Quarters of Children's Aid Society Not Adequate.

For thirty-two years the Children's Aid society of Fayette county has wanted a home of its own. Now it has determined to have one. The first week in September is the time chosen for the drive, which it is hoped will bring in enough funds to purchase a house suitable for use as a home.

The home maintained by the Children's Aid society is unique in that it is used as a clearing house for children who will later be adopted by private families as well as a temporary boarding home for other children placed there by friends or relatives. Of the 1,400 children who have passed through the hands of this society since 1886, hundreds have been legally adopted.

There are sixteen children now at the home maintained by the society in a rented house on the McClellandtown road, Uniontown. This number crowds the house beyond capacity, and the house itself is not well arranged for such a purpose.

The officers of the society are Mrs. P. A. Johns, president; Mrs. A. W. Cotton, vice president; Mrs. E. S. Mackney, second vice president; Mrs. E. H. Fowler, secretary, and Mrs. L. H. Smith, treasurer.

THE KAISER'S AMERICAN DENTIST TELLS STORY OF RELATION TO WAR LORD

Lays Bare to Courier Readers the Mind of the Despot Who Has Deceived the World With Blood.

In today's issue of The Courier there is given the first installment of the story of the relations and interviews of Dr. Arthur N. Davis, an American who served as dentist to Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany for 14 years. In that capacity he became intimately acquainted with the Kaiser, and the letter, in the course of dozens of friendly talks, revealed himself and his ambitions as he probably did to no other person outside his immediate circle.

This true narrative lays bare the mind of the despot who has deluged the world with blood. It shows by the emperor's own words how he has approved every act of cruelty and barbarity that the German armies have perpetrated during the war. It shows how the Kaiser grew to hate and despise Americans and how he gave warning that the United States should be punished.

This remarkable narrative shows once more why the world is at war; who is responsible for it and why it must be fought to the end. Don't miss a single installment of this startling revelation of the inner workings of the Kaiser's mind.

Tired Nervous Mothers

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

BALTO. & OHIO R. R. BUILDING PLANT TO RECLAIM CAR PARTS

To Be Located at Cumberland; Will Cost $1,500,000; Employ 250 Men.

TO BE COMPLETED IN YEAR

Recovered Parts to be Used in Making Repairs to Cars and Locomotives; May Build Complete New Car Bodies in Part of Shop; Plan is Approved.

A reclamation plant is to be built by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the South End, Cumberland, adjoining the $1,500,000 erecting shop now under construction, the project having been approved by the Railroad Administration. The plant will cover as much ground as the erecting shop and will employ constantly about 250 men. The ground is being filled in with cinders toward the Chesapeake & Ohio canal to be used as the site for the plant. All damaged or condemned steel cars on the Baltimore & Ohio system will be brought here and dismantled and the good parts reclaimed and distributed to other sections of the road. The scrap will be absorbed, classified and sold, also any other scrap such as steam shovels, old locomotive and bridge material. Gantry cranes will be used in the work. They will travel the full length of the building. The employment will be constant as there are 100,000 cars on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and it may be that adjacent lines will send in rolling stock. The average life of a car is 20 years.

The plant it is expected, will be covered with a steel structure next year. This would be done immediately, but structural steel is most difficult to procure. As soon as the plant can be gotten in shape, work will be started on the dismantling of 1,000 steel cars in the open. The management has under contemplation the building of new steel car bodies at the plant, using the old trucks. This would require many additional men. Machinery is being placed for the dismantling of cars, but the structural steel for the building has not yet been put on the ground. The foundations for the outer walls are complete and three 500-foot length erecting pits are dug and ready for the concrete. It is expected that the steel will be at hand and the plant under cover by January, Garrett, Ind., and Columbus, O., were after this plant, but it was felt there was greater need for it on the lines east and Cumberland won out. It will employ 50 additional men, nearly all skilled secured from various parts of the country.

The erecting shop will have a capacity of 40 repaired locomotives a month. It will be modern in every detail with all motor-driven tools. Two one-hundred-ton electric cranes will travel the full length of the building and working together can pick up a 100-ton locomotive weighing 471,000 pounds. In connection with this shop, a three-story concrete storehouse is being built. Duplicates of every part of a locomotive will be kept in stock to be sent out on the road as needed.

TELLS HOW TO GET BACK OLD TIME AMBITION

Discoverer instructs druggists everywhere not to take a cent of anyone's money unless Bio-feren doubles energy, vigor and nerve force in two weeks.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Any man or woman who finds that they are going backward, are not as strong as they used to be, have lost confidence in their ability to accomplish things, are nervous and run down should take two Bio-feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime. Seven a day for seven days. Then take one after each meal until the supply is exhausted. Then if your nervousness is not gone, if you do not feel twice as strong and energetic as before, if your sluggish disposition has not been changed to a vigorous active one, take back the empty package and your money will be returned without comment.

No matter what excesses, worry, overwork—too much tobacco or alcohol—have weakened your body and wrecked your nerves, any druggist anywhere is authorized to refund your money on request if Bio-feren, the mighty upbuilder of blood, muscles and brain does not do just what is claimed for it.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lactogen, Calcium Glycero-phosphate, Iron Pyrophosphate, Manganese Pyrophosphate, Ext. Nuc. Vomica, Liquid Glutamic Acid, Phenolphthalein, Osmosin Capicum, Eola.

war and the public's urgent fuel needs, the industry will make an intensive personal output campaign with its forces now in the region.

It is the intention to see that each mine-worker is personally interviewed and the situation put up to him. The same is generally done in a political campaign. There are a ready enough communities in the anthracite region to do this work and, where the workers do not speak English, interpreters will explain. Urgent necessity for the greatest possible output of anthracite. The miners of Pennsylvania are largely of foreign birth, but now Americanized to a greater or lesser degree. There has been education of mine-workers along patriotic lines and much good has already been accomplished. The output question in every possible way with their respective employees. A certain number will be interviewed each day.

There are many good "four minute" men in the anthracite industry who speak all the foreign tongues in the region. These men will make patriotic talks and hope to accomplish much good.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed, or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of narcotics containing opium are disgusting, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Another Strong Reason Why You Should Supply Your Homefurnishing Needs During Aaron's Money-Saving

August Furniture Sale

Save from 10% to 35%.

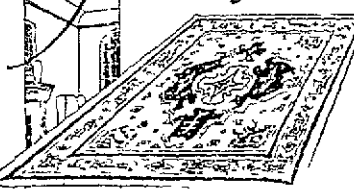

Save from 10% to 35%.

At a convention held by the Furniture Manufacturers on August 13th at the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburg, it was decided that the factories would cut down their output from 25% to 66%. It was also agreed that they would standardize only on a few certain patterns and finishes.

This meeting was held at the request of the U. S. War Industries Board to devise a means of conserving fuel and other materials essential to war work. And it was decided that by curtailing their output 25% to 66% the Furniture Industry could best meet the demands of the Government.

You know what that means? Even now GOOD Furniture is scarce—and with the manufacturers cutting down their supply from 25% to 66%—it will be scarcer still. That means prices must advance. Therefore, our advice is to BUY NOW while these big savings prevail.

SPECIAL SERVICE DRAFTS.

Some inconsiderate and very thoughtless persons have referred to the special instruction as "going to college, not to war." While this reference has not always been made in a spirit of disparagement of the service these young men are entering upon, it has at times taken that form and very much to the discredit of those applying the designation.

Such persons do not seem to realize that war, as the United States is conducting it, is the most gigantic and most diversified business and industrial enterprise ever undertaken. It calls for the services of more men, and men with brains and skill, than have before been assembled for a single purpose. The army that must be called into existence to conduct the war to a victorious conclusion is not composed of fighting men only. Every art, craft, trade and occupation known in civil life, and many specialties peculiar to military services only, are among the activities for which a certain proportion of the soldiers must be fitted.

Comparatively few men are fully prepared to enter upon these many classes of special army work without previous instruction and training.

Some may have had experience along certain lines but not sufficient to qualify them for performing their work according to army standards and practice; others may be wholly without experience in these lines.

When a call comes for specially trained men registrants have an opportunity of voluntarily answering the call. If the quota is not thus supplied the local boards are empowered to induct men into the service. These detachments are sent to the different educational institutions where they receive special instruction and training in the particular work they are to do. They are also given military training so that they may be able to give an account of themselves in an emergency in their special service and to place them under rigid army discipline. They become as much a part of the army, and render just as necessary service, as do the men in the fighting branches. They, of course, do not share the glory that comes to men who face the foe on the fields of battle, and they may not win medals for conspicuous bravery in presence of the enemy; but they have important duties which, as true

American soldiers, they will perform with credit and honor.

It will become anyone, and most of all those who have taken upon themselves no form of service in helping to win the war, to make comparisons of the value of soldiers, whether trained for fighting or trained for providing means to make fighting gaster and more effective.

Now that Judge Duval, the Democratic candidate for governor, has declared positively and clearly that he is opposed to the ratification of the prohibition amendment, the public will want with a patience, not unusually, that may be expected to be made by the administration as much as it is by the Congress and the nation. Interest is all the keener because these self-same organs have approved the course of the administration in refusing to give proof of its sincerity on the ratification issue by enforcing prohibition as a war measure.

The Conneltsville colored draftees at Camp Custer have as fine an appreciation of the honor bestowed upon them when they went away as they have correct views of their duty as soldiers—that is to "Get the Kaiser."

Does the lengthening of the roll of the 10th's honored dead annule our entirety, as do other marks of respect to those who have had the courage to answer their country's call?

Making it 67 instead of 57 varieties of hump the next contingent of selective will give the Kaiser will help some in the big game of "Get the Kaiser."

The chief production manager's instruction to his subordinates reminds us of the judge who, after listening patiently to a young lawyer expound with minute detail some fundamental principles of the law, dryly observed:

"Young man, there are some things this court is presumed to know."

The Hunks will have to devise some more effective method than burying them out of business for more than a few days.

The investigation of aircraft production proves that the appropriations were made to fix.

The vocal patriots and their pro-

German friends are the only citizens who are amused, not moved to respect, by the sight of service flags or other evidences that men are standing ready to give their lives for their country and the cause of civilization.

Where the British or Americans don't burn the flag on the western front, the French do, and some days it is a case of "All together" which is altogether too much for the Hunks.

"The German army has lost its liberty of action," says a military critic.

There is still plenty of it seen to move to the rear and plenty of reasons why such a movement is being made.

"It takes right smart lot of hustlin' now," Georgia commented through the clothespins in her mouth, "to do everything that's gotta be done.

"That's splendid of you to buy a another this time. Course, you see, I gotta take more'n some people on account of leavin' more children."

"On account of havin' more children? I should think they would be an excuse for you not to take any!"

Georgia stopped hanging petticoats and planted her hands on her hips.

"Why, Mrs. Lewis, I'm surprised.

You know what would happen to our children, don't you, if Uncle Sam didn't win this war? Lawdy, it wouldn't hurt me so much—'cause I won't be here so awful long anyhow. But my children! I just wouldn't want to leave 'em on this earth at all, if that there Kaiser won. I should think everyone would feel the same. Sure they do. Well then the more children

I got, don't that mean the more I ought to give to help win it? I got five of my own flesh and blood at stake in this war, even if they are too young to fight in it. I guess that means I'm going to give everything I can to Uncle Sam, so he'll win it for

'em, don't it?"

MOUNT PLEASANT, Aug. 23.—A patriotic meeting with 3,000 in attendance was held at the Standard works of the H. C. Frick Coke company. A concert was given by the G.
A. R. band of Scottsdale and was greatly enjoyed. Attorney Laughlin of Pittsburg, made an address, telling the men how they were being appreciated as a factor in the great war and how marvelous it was that they were able to get the work out that they did. The necessity of supplying materially and supplies necessary to carry on the war was told the men.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE FAMILY SKELETON"—The humorous account of the struggle of a young millionaire against the Demon Rum, and his cure by a lovely chorus girl and a loyal old valet, makes up the basis of Charles Ray's latest Paramount picture now showing at the Orpheum theatre. Every other means having failed to effect a cure, pretty Poppy Drayton, the chorus girl sweetheart, consults the boy's old family physician and plots with him to startle the young man into forgetfulness of his imaginary trouble.
They hire an ex-prize fighter who is to pretend to abduct Poppy under the boy's very nose. The results were even better than the two conspirators hoped for and the amusing finale of the episode makes "The Family Skeleton" the best of any of Charles Ray's pictures so far—not even excepting
"The Clockmaker," "The Hired Man"
and "This Mother's Boy."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE FAIR PRETENDER"—Today
and Saturday, the Paramount is presenting one of Goldwyn's best productions, Madge Kennedy in "The Fair Pretender." In this five-act photoplay Miss Kennedy is ably supported by Tom Moore and a strong cast. The play is one of timeliness and sure appeal. Madge plays the role of Sylvia Maynard, a girl who cherishes a sage ambition. How she becomes mixed up in the smart set; how she succeeds in passing herself off as a dashing widow only to be found out at the moment when all her plans for the success of the man she cares for are materializing is only part of the play which will thrill and charm all because of its originality. Alva Dale, the noted dramatic critic, praises Madge Kennedy highly. He declares she is a "find." It is a pleasure to watch her admirable work, he says, and she proves what is that rarest thing, a woman with a sense of humor, not an exaggerated sense but a sensibly repressed one. "The Fair Pretender" is true to life and only shows similar deceptions that happen every day. A good two-act comedy will also be shown. Viola Dana will soon be shown at the Paramount in the picture "Opportunity."

FURNACES COMPLAIN OF POOR QUALITY OF COKE GENERALLY

Not of Connellsville Alone But the Product of All Districts.

INVESTIGATING SUPPLY

For War Uses in Conjunction With the Labor Supply Situation; Pittsburgh District Coal Shipments Falling Behind Schedule; Pig Iron Quiet.

From The Weekly Courier.
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Offerings of boundary coke continue of moderately heavy volume while there is practically nothing offering in furnace coke, as allocations continue to take up the slack as fast as it develops, and sometimes sooner. The turnover in foundry coke is fairly direct and partly through brokers, who frequently obtain a small commission from operators. There are no large commissions going. There is an increasing movement in coke screenings obtained from old dumps and prices, therefore, range up to $8.50 for the best quality. It is estimated that even with the increasing rate at which this material is being prepared and marketed supplies will last approximately through the year. On the whole the general market situation in coke shows practically no change from last week.

There continues to be complaint on the part of furnaces of poor quality of coke. This does not apply to Connellsville coke in particular but seems to be a prevalent condition all over the country. Not all coke is complained of by any means but few districts are entirely free from complaint. It is asserted that the consumption of coke per ton of pig iron produced is abnormally high. This would help to account for the fact that coke is more or less scarce, although production is at a heavy rate, apparently quite sufficient to maintain a heavier rate of pig iron than now obtains. The weekly reports of the United States Geological Survey indicate that the country has lately been making coke at the rate of 60,000,000 tons a year. In 1916, with a production of 54,500,000 tons of coke there was a production of 39,400,000 tons of pig iron, and proportionately there should now be coke sufficient for an output of 43,500,000 tons a year, but the actual rate has been below 41,000,000 tons.

The director of steel supply is engaged in a fresh canvass of the situation as regards supplies of steel for war and essential commercial purposes and is giving particular attention to the matter of production, coke supplies being one of the items investigated while the labor supply is being carefully looked into.

The market remains quotable at the set limits, as follows:

Furnace$5.00
Foundry, 24-hour selected$7.00
Crushed, over 8 1/2-inch$7.35

Coal producing conditions in the Pittsburgh district are far from satisfactory. Coal shortages are more pronounced and much tonnage is lost for that reason. Last Friday R. W. Cardiner, who is now production manager for the district, having formerly been distributor, called the Federal Fuel Administrator by telephone and urged that the necessary representations be made to the Railroad Administration to produce a better car supply for the Pittsburgh coal district. Lake shipments are now considerably more than a million tons behind schedule and the Pittsburgh district is chiefly dependent upon to make up the deficit by the middle of October. Several large consumers have been called upon to draw supplies from their stock piles in order to release shipments. A meeting of operators is being held in Pittsburgh today to consider various means of increasing output. It is intended to establish committees with equal representation by operators and miners, to investigate causes of lost production and fix the responsibility. There is no open market for coal, as even essential industries cannot get coal except through allocations by the Steel Administration. All such business is done at the set limits, $2.10 for slack, $2.85 for mine-run and $2.60 for screened, per net ton at mine, Pittsburgh district.

The pig iron market has become very quiet. Contracting for the first half of next year is now about ended, with only a relatively small tonnage placed under contract. There is a very large volume of contract business still to be carried out, but in practice contracts are very largely disregarded. Consumers who have no contracts are being allocated iron, when their wants are important, while other consumers who have contracts do not get full contract deliveries. Those whose operations are not regarded as absolutely essential get no iron, while even those whose operations are essential frequently have to call for allocations. The

CAN BE NO RELAXATION IN PREPARATION BY THE STEEL TRADE TO WIN WAR

In Fact More Strenuous Efforts Are Being Made to Develop Means for Increasing Production.

From The Weekly Courier.
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The testimony of the military authorities before Congressional committees in connection with the new draft legislation, that the war can be won before the end of 1919, does not alter the opinion held for several weeks in the steel trade for such a view has represented the majority attitude. There is no news, in other words, that would in the near future alter the pressure of the war machine for steel deliveries. The pressure, indeed, shows signs of increasing rather than relaxing. Steel is to be thrown into the war work in as great volume, and as quickly, as is humanly possible. If the war ends in 1919 it will be because the work of winning it has been done, and there can be no relaxation in the work.

An evidence of the pressure of war demand is found in the fact that there are scarcely any applications for the shipment of "Class D" steel. Few mills have any steel in prospect after priorities and preferences are taken care of and therefore have no occasion to make application. In addition, there are strong suspicions on the part of many producers that application for a permit to ship Class D steel would not result in the permit being issued, but would result in the steel involved being designated for some other purpose, one useful in winning the war.

Iron and steel production is increasing somewhat after the slight backward given by extremely hot weather, but the loss in tonnage at the time was small. More strenuous efforts are being made to develop means by which production can be increased. As one of many items, it is being pointed out that possibly too much blast furnace capacity is being used in the production of ferromanganese and spiegeleisen, pig iron being scarcer than the manganese alloys.

SULPHUR IN COAL MAY BE A SOURCE OF LARGE PROFIT

A Process For Its Recovery Has Been Perfected, It Is Claimed.

COST NOT OVER $6 PER TON

Which Is Below Production in the Big Sulphur Mines; Output Can Be Utilized at Government Acid and Munition Plants; Now Sells Above $50.

The manufacture of pure sulphur from waste coal brasse at a manufacturing cost of not more than $6.00 a ton is revealed in a process which has been brought to the attention of the National Coal association. The process has been found practicable after more than five years of laboratory work and field demonstrations and the process fully developed by which pure sulphur may be recovered both from waste sulphur dioxide, smaller fume and from sulphur dioxide gas obtained by burning coal brasse. The process has been investigated by the United States Bureau of Mines and approved as practicable.

In the case where waste coal brasse is to be utilized, it is roasted and the resulting sulphur dioxide gas cooled and cleaned from most of its dust and fume by passing up through a scrubbing tower. The gas is then absorbed out of the ascending gases by downflowing cold water which becomes saturated. From the water solution the sulphur dioxide is expelled by heating under diminished pressure and passes into a chamber where hydrocarbon gas is added in proper amount. This gas may either be natural gas or that manufactured from coal or oil. A portion of the two gases are then preheated to reaction temperature and pass to the contact chamber. This chamber is filled with a close grill work and blocks made of plaster of paris which composes the contact mass. The reaction starts when the contact mass attains an initial temperature of about 700 degrees Centigrade. As the reaction itself is very exothermic, the temperature rises rapidly and the remainder of the gas mixture is added, and raised to reaction temperature by the heat generated by the reaction of the first preheated portion.

From the contact chamber passes pure sulphur vapor to a chamber where it may be cooled to any condition either lump, powdered or flowers. Waste products of combustion pass on and out of an adjoining stack. Operation is particularly applicable to coal mines owing to the cheapness of fuel to be had there, which goes to make up a major part of the cost, the method requiring the equivalent of one ton of fuel to make one ton of sulphur. Complete cost estimates for fuel, labor, repairs, power, etc., amount to less than $6.00 per ton sulphur recovered where cheap natural gas or coal is available. Plants located in the eastern coal belt have all the advantages of freight rates over those existing on long haul lines from western smelters and from the sulphur mines of Louisiana and Texas. At a cost of $6.00 per ton the coal operator will not alone be able to put to good use the waste coal brasse but will make pure sulphur at a price well below any cost now established at the large sulphur mines located on the Gulf coast where the mining cost is about $10.00 per ton and to which must be added freight charges. Sulphur produced in the coal belt will be of easy access to the government acid and munition plants now operating or under construction. Large consumers are now paying more than $50 per ton for their requirements.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, rundown system, and create strength.

The Kaiser as I Knew Him for Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

PREFACE

For 14 years the Kaiser was my patient. All I know of him and all that he told me came to me while the relation of patient and dentist existed between us.

For that reason I felt at first that, no matter how vital to the allied cause might be the information I could give as to the Kaiser's viewpoint, ambitions and plans, the requirements of professional ethics must seal my lips and compel me to withhold it from the world at large.

When, however, I considered the grave crisis that confronts the world and in which my own country is playing so important a part, and realized that what I knew of the Kaiser might prove of some value to civilization, I concluded that my patriotic duty was paramount and rose superior to any of the ordinary demands of professional ethics.

In this conclusion I was strengthened by the urgent solicitation of the leaders of my profession who were most emphatic in their contention that my evident qualities were entirely unwarranted in view of all the circumstances.

ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

CHAPTER I.

"America Must Be Punished!"

When war broke out between the United States and Germany, on April 6, 1917, I was in Berlin. I had lived and practiced my profession as a dentist there for 14 years, and the Kaiser had been one of my patients during all that time.

I don't know exactly how many visits the Kaiser paid me professionally, but I know I am safe in saying they were not less than 100, and the probabilities are they were closer to 150. Almost invariably, after my work was done, the Kaiser remained anywhere from ten minutes to an hour and a half to discuss the topics of the hour with me.

When we declared war against Germany, therefore, while I was still an American citizen—as patriotic an American, I believe, as might be found anywhere—I had lived in Germany so long, had developed so many professional friendships in Germany's most favored circles and was so generally regarded as a particular favorite of the Kaiser himself, that I found it hard to realize that nevertheless I had become an alien enemy.

The same day the breaking off of diplomatic relations was announced, the German newspapers had published the provisions of an old treaty between Germany and the United States which gave Americans in Germany and Germans in America nine months after a declaration of war between the two nations within which to settle their affairs and leave the country.

"This treaty," the newspapers pointed out, "was made in the time of Frederick the Great. It has never been repudiated. Germany will respect it." As there were so many more Germans in America than there were Americans in Germany, this prompt announcement of Germany's intentions regarding this treaty was quite understandable and it seemed most improbable that Germany would adopt any harsh measures toward Americans and thereby invite reprisals.

Had the situation been reversed, of course, the Germans would undoubtedly have thought it expedient to intern Americans no matter what happened to their own countrymen in America, and, in that event, this ancient treaty would have shared the fate of that which guaranteed Belgium's neutrality. One "scrap of paper" more or less would never have been allowed to interfere with Germany's "destiny."

Influential Germans who called to see me professionally during that period almost invariably expressed the hope that I was not planning to leave Berlin.

"No matter what happens, doctor," they declared—"even if the worst comes to the worst and war is declared between America and Germany—you may feel quite sure the Kaiser will never let anyone harm you."

I had not let the matter rest there, however. I had called at the American embassy, where it was pointed out to me that, while diplomatic relations had been severed, it was not at all certain that war would result and there was, therefore, no reason for me to leave Berlin precipitately.

Had the Kaiser been in Berlin at the time, I might, of course, have had an opportunity to put the question to him squarely as to what my fate might be if war were declared, but he was away. The court chamberlain had been appointed but a short time before and I did not know him personally, but his predecessor, Count August von Eulenburg, one of the wisest and most respected men in Germany, was one of my oldest patients and I decided to discuss the situation with him. Unfortunately, however, I found him too ill to receive me. He was a sixty years old man, although unusually well preserved, was in no condition on this occasion to receive visitors.

Another influential patient of mine whom I sought out at this time was ex-Ambassador von Stumm. Although he was now retired from official life, he had formerly been a powerful figure in German state circles and still kept more or less in touch with the new court chamberlain and others in high office. His nephew was under secretary of foreign affairs.

I found the ex-ambassador at his private apartment in the Adlon hotel. "What will happen to Americans," I asked, "if my country declares war against Germany?"

"That, doctor, will depend entirely upon how America treats our subjects," he replied, somewhat more coldly than I had expected of him. "If America interns Germans, of course, we shall undoubtedly treat Americans the same way, and you could hardly expect any special consideration, although, if you will write a letter to the court chamberlain, who is a personal friend of mine, I shall see that he gets it."

"But, excellency," I replied, "there is a treaty between Germany and America. I understand, which gives the subjects or citizens of one country who happen to be sojourning in the other when war is declared nine months within which to close up their affairs and leave. Would not that protect me?"

"Of course, doctor," he answered, "Germany will respect the treaty if America does, and then there will be no trouble. It seems to me you must await developments and, in the meantime you have no cause for worry."

"Suppose some of your subjects in America should set up and start blowing up bridges or munition factories and should be lynched, which they probably would be," I suggested, "what would Germany's course be?"

"What Germany would do then, doctor," he replied, slowly and thoughtfully, as though such a contingency had never occurred to him before—"really, doctor, I don't know what we would do."

This somewhat unsatisfactory interview with von Stumm might have worried me more, perhaps, had it not been for a visit I received only a day or two later from Prince von Pless, one of the Kaiser's closest friends and advisors, who called on me professionally. For a year and a half the Kaiser had had his great army headquarters at the prince's palace at Pless, in southeastern Germany, and I knew that he enjoyed his monarch's confidence.

When I asked him regarding the possible internment of Americans, he assured me that, come what might, I and my family had not the slightest reason for alarm.

"No matter what may befall other Americans, doctor," he asserted, in a confidential manner, "the Kaiser has gone on record to the effect that you and your family are not to be molested."

Another incident which made me feel that I could proceed with my preparations for leaving Berlin without undue haste was the receipt early in the year of a most extraordinary post card from the Kaiser which, it occurred to me, was quite significant as to his intentions regarding my welfare. On one side was his picture and on the other, written and signed in English in his own handwriting, was the message:

"Dear Doctor Davis:

"Wishing you a very good year for 1917.

WILLIAM I. R."

This was the first message of its kind that I had ever received from the Kaiser. Even in peace times, the picture postals which he had sent to me from time to time and which were autographed by him, were always signed in German. When, on February 1, the Germans resumed their ruthless submarine warfare—a move which was immediately followed by the breaking off of diplomatic relations—I felt that the Kaiser must have foreseen this consequence and had sent me the postal as an intimation that he wanted me to remain in Berlin nevertheless.

When the Germans sank the Lusitania, living and practicing in Germany lost many of their attractions for me. I made up my mind then that I would rather return home and commence my professional career all over again, if necessary, than remain in a country which could sanction such a hideous form of warfare—the wanton destruction of women and children. To that end, I went to New York in the summer of 1915 to investigate the requirements for the practice of my profession in that state. I had an Illinois license, but I wanted to be in a position to practice in New York, and the following year I went to New York again and took the state dental examination. I returned to Germany late in the autumn of 1916 and later I learned that my certificate had been granted. Then I commenced active preparations to dispose of my German practice and return home.

My second reason for wanting to get out of Germany as soon as possible was the fact that food conditions in Germany were becoming more precarious every day. My wife and I feared that our child, who was two years old, might suffer from lack of proper nourishment if we remained and I determined that no matter how long it might be necessary for me to remain in Berlin, my wife and child at any rate should leave at the earliest possible moment.

My third reason, however, was by far the most insistent of all.

I had become convinced that what I knew of the Kaiser and his plans, now that we were at war, ought to be communicated to America without delay and that the only way to do that adequately would be to get home as soon as I possibly could, no matter what personal sacrifice might be involved in abandoning my European practice and interests.

It is true that in the early years of my relationship with the Kaiser our conversations naturally embraced only the most general of subjects, but in later years, when he came to know me better, he cast aside all reserve and

JACOB J. SWANK
PRAISES TANLAC
MASTER REMEDY

Retired Business Man Feels It a Duty to Make Facts Known.

Jacob J. Swank, a retired business man, of 825 Napoleon St., Johnstown, Pa., said recently:
"I am a conservative man, and have especially been skeptical regarding endorsements of medicines of any character, although I have used many of them in attempts to obtain real relief from catarrh of the head and throat and stomach trouble.
"I believe I had used almost everything imaginable before I took Tanlac. At night, when I slept, which was poorly, I evidently swallowed accumulations of mucus, as I invariably awakened in the morning choked and nauseated. That is the way I judge that my stomach became affected.
"My hearing became impaired and the itching in my ears became almost unbearable, and there were roaring noises also. I had a most unpleasant taste in my mouth and scarcely any appetite.
"My condition was so distressing that I had almost determined to visit a dry, salt climate to gain relief. I watched the introduction of Tanlac carefully and I finally decided, if so many men and women, of evidently sound sense used the medicine and said they were benefited, it would be worth my while to try it, although I truly had no faith in it at the time.
"I was surprised, however, I began to improve rapidly under the Tanlac treatment. My whole system is now right, the accumulations in my nose and throat have disappeared, my hearing has improved, I eat better, my sleep is restful and I feel better every way. I now consider myself physically able to throw off any other symptoms.
"I am a well man and I propose to tell others of the good Tanlac has done me. I feel it is my duty to do so."
Tanlac, the Master Medicine that masters when everything else fails, is sold here by Connelville Drug Co., Beighley's Pharmacy and F. H. Harmeizing, where it can now be had.—

Watch Your Stomach
In the Summer Time

Hot summer days upset the strong stomachs as well as weak ones.

Your vital forces reach their lowest level when the weather is the hottest. Then the danger is the greatest.

You can't guard your stomach and bowels too carefully throughout the long, hot season. Don't take any chance. Indigestion, sour stomach, that wretched, bloated feeling, belching, food repeating, pains that claw at stomach and bowels and an endless train of stomach ills that make life miserable are greatly aggravated in the hot weather.

This year of all others—it is vital that we keep our strength and full power at work. The extra war work, change of diet—all must be looked after because they hit us in the stomach. And now it is good news to tell you that tens of thousands are now using EATONIC—for all stomach and bowel ailments caused by too much acidity with such truly wonderful results that every one should always have it in the house.

EATONIC Tablets stop the cause of indigestive and dyspeptic ailments by neutralizing the poisonous acids, acids and gases largely the result of super-acidity. This makes the stomach pain-free and ready to perform its proper work.

You can have a good appetite in hot weather to eat the things you like when you want them if you take one or two EATONIC Tablets after each meal. Such quick, wonderful relief would seem unbelievable but for the fact that thousands of sufferers everywhere have received marvelous results from EATONIC. Obtain a large box of EATONIC Tablets from your own druggist who you know and can trust.
If they fail, go back to him and he will gladly refund your money. Do this today. You will then know what real stomach comfort means in hot weather.

or steamer trunk you will find it here in the newest and most improved model. Every piece fairly priced. Trunks—second floor annex. Bags and Cases—first floor rear

Knitters should not overlook the fact that the manufacture of yarns is being much curtailed. Naturally this results in a greater demand upon our stocks by women who have garments already started and other women planning to knit something in the near future. This applies to khaki, Oxford, and all novelty shades. How is your supply? Art needles—Second Floor.

Now is a good time to go over the house and determine just how many new window shades and other such furnishings you done, as workmen are not rushed and can give better service.
